

Actions taken by the National Council for Human Rights (NCHR) in relation to the National Population and Development Strategy

Overview:

Within the framework of the implementation of NCHR's action plan for the National Population and Development Strategy, and within the framework of cooperation with the National Population Council, NCHR reviews the activities related to the Communication and Media pillar, which aims to achieve social and economic change through awareness-raising and education on population and development issues. These activities were implemented in 2024 and the beginning of the year 2025.

Sub-objective:

- Develop specialized awareness programs for all segments of society and different age groups to promote sustainable development in line with communication theories.

Strategic interventions:

- Public awareness campaigns that highlight issues related to human rights and equality and encourage public debate.

Activities:

- Organizing public seminars to discuss human rights issues, with a focus on population and development issues, and proposing positive solutions in Cairo and the governorates.

Implementation Period:

February 2024 - May 2025
